Circles of Inspiration: The Geometry of the Everyday

While returning from the SWAB Barcelona Art Fair, we encountered a unique design element in the men's restroom at the airport. In the center of the urinal, there was a grey circular form that immediately sparked an idea.

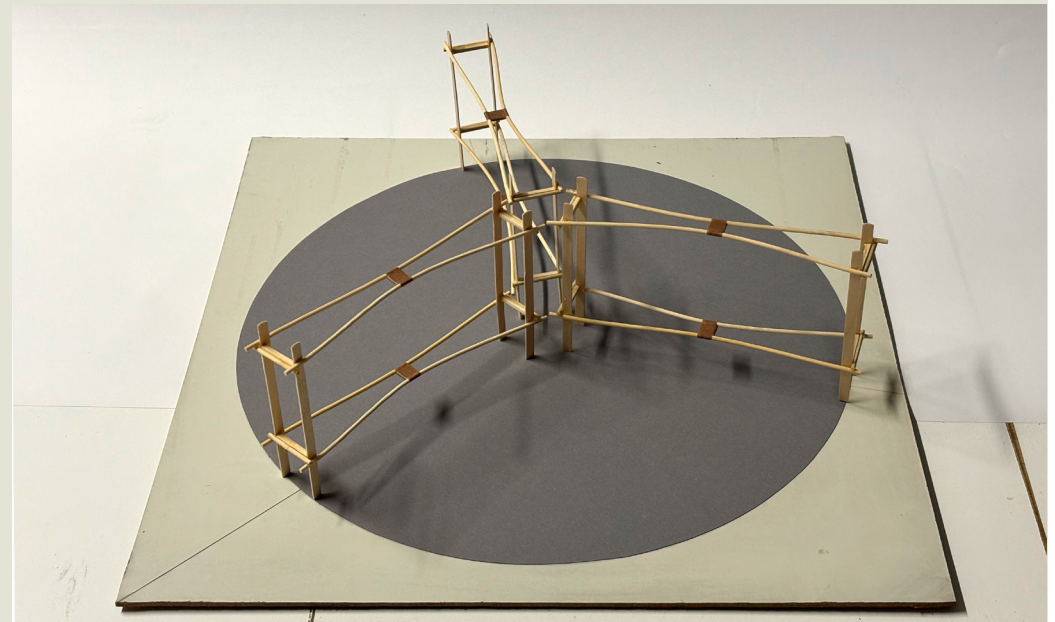

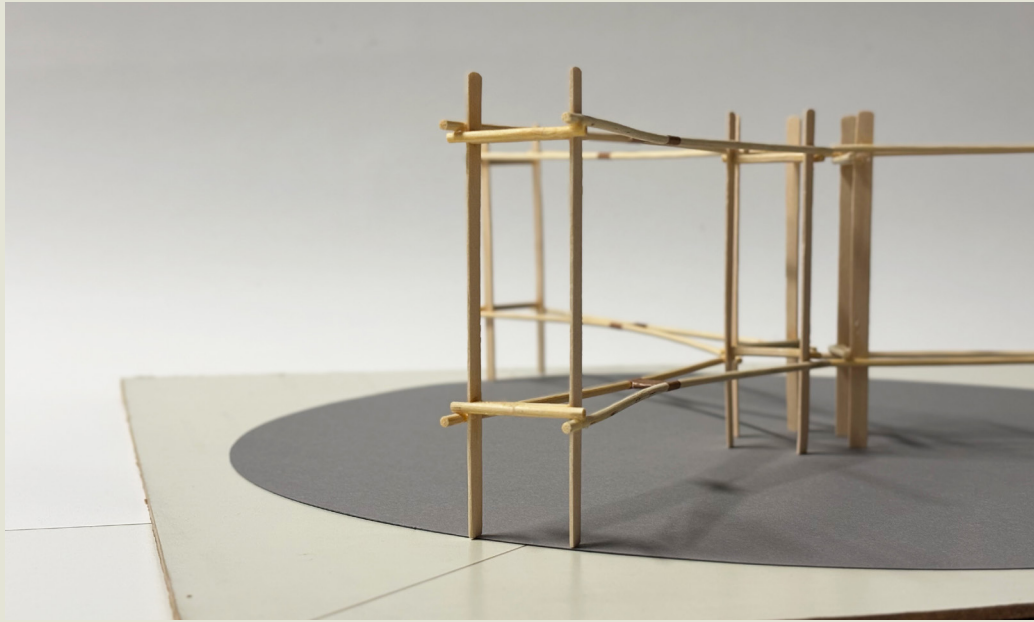

This subtle, everyday object inspired us to envision a new arrangement for a three-panel artwork, where the panels are set in a star-like formation reminiscent of the Mercedes-Benz logo. It was a moment where the mundane unexpectedly merged with creativity, seamlessly blending into our ongoing artistic process.

- In case we have the space and possibility to showcase only 3 panels of the AAAH project.
- ATTENTION! In each corner, a vertically mounted TV monitor will display a three-part documentary about the RingelReih Collective, focusing on the behind-the-scenes process and the development of the work. This setup will allow viewers to engage with the artwork while gaining deeper insight into the creative journey and the collective's unique approach.

- In case we have the space and possibility to showcase all the 6 panels of the AAAH project.

- In case we have the space and possibility to showcase 9 panels of any future base an archive project.
